- PERSON 1: In the Christmas story, I don't understand why Caesar wanted everyone to go to their hometowns for the census. (shakes head) Imagine everyone today having to travel back to where they were born. Impossible!
- PERSON 2: Back then, most people probably didn't move away from their hometowns, so no one would have to travel. At least if they did, there was plenty of transportation like donkeys and camels. Listen to this commercial.
- PERSON 3: Hey! Jacob Dromedary here to tell you about savings on new and used camels at...Camelot!
